

EHL Certification

Does your institution have the right qualities to attract today's discerning students and deliver excellence in both academics and operations?

We help you achieve a successful balance between academic quality, hospitality relevance and profitability with the following benefits:

A mark of academic quality assurance

A clear plan to support growth

Access to EHL's world-class resources

In today's competitive higher education market, institutions that offer hospitality education are facing a number of challenges and opportunities such as high competition from institutions operating with aggressive recruitment methods, higher student expectations and difficulties finding qualified managers and faculty. At the same time, the number of students seeking higher education continues to grow and so does the demand for hospitality graduates. The opportunities are there, your institution just needs to rise above the rest to seize them.

ABOUT US

EHL Advisory Services is the largest Swiss hospitality advisory services firm and the most advanced house of knowledge for hospitality education and business development.

We bring the expertise of the world's leading hospitality management schools to prepare learning centers and businesses for future success, and we benefit from the vast resources of the group to create business opportunities and develop talent where the industry needs us most.

OUR SOLUTIONS

EHL Certification brings the reputation and expertise of the world's leading hospitality business school - Ecole hoteliere de Lausanne (EHL), in Switzerland - to address these challenges and opportunities for your learning center. EHL Advisory Services will lead your institution through a journey of continuous improvement that provides progressive advantages, resources and recognition.
